

CHRISTIAAN VOGEL

Aspiring software engineering student with hands-on experience in web development, IT support, and networking. Backed by strong academic performance at Nelson Mandela University and Eduvos, with distinctions across key modules. Proficient in C#, Java, Python, Delphi, and front-end web technologies. Passionate about building practical, scalable software and continually expanding knowledge in cybersecurity and modern development practices. Currently developing a personal portfolio and seeking an opportunity to contribute to a professional software team while growing as a developer.
